Child Development Services

The most important developmental years in the life of a child are from birth to 5. Volunteers of America Southwest (VOASW)'s Early Head Start programs in both Center-Based and Home-Based Options in San Bernardino, Rialto, Fontana and Imperial Valley are specifically designed to address the needs of low-income and special-needs families by providing no cost comprehensive early childhood development services that address a child's approaches to learning, social and emotional development, language and literacy acquisition, cognitive growth and development and physical development and health as well as helping families identify community resources.

VOASW Center-Based uses Creative Curriculum, a comprehensive, research-based infant and toddler curriculum that nurtures the unique strengths, interest, and needs of infants, toddlers, and twos.

VOASW Home-Based services uses Parents as Teachers, the curriculum is a two-generation curriculum that addresses the needs of both the parents and the child.

VOASW Parent Education is Ready Rosie, a research-based parenting curriculum that is uniquely content-driven, builds on family knowledge, and has been shown to have positive impacts on family behaviors and child outcomes.
